

V. Leadership Development

Amin Pathsani was leading a life of seclusion by the community and family. Initially he was arranged treatment for the disease. Later the community was sensitized to accept him. He started a business with financial support from Vikash. He arranged a working capital and took a second loan to start an agricultural vending business. Then he opened a shop with the main market of the village which is really a height of community acceptance. Presently he is an active member with Krusak Nidhi. He is an important leader of the disabled people's association in the block or district. He is a board member of the new school in the village. He is an important person of the locality and a leader in many social celebrations.
